

COLORED MOVIES OF RAILROAD
FAIR TO BE SHOWN IN MOKENATinley Garden Club
Met In Mokena
Thursday, Nov. 17

The Tinley Park Garden club met at Mokena and the November meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Henry Clark. It wasn't a very pleasant day but the members enjoyed the ride, and were greeted with a very cheery welcome by our hostess.

At 1:30 p.m. our president, Mrs. Frank Baldwin, tapped her gavel and then read a lovely Thanksgiving Day message. The business meeting was as follows: the roll call, reading of the October minutes and the report of our treasurer.

Mrs. Rogers has planned to serve a Christmas dinner to patients in a deserving ward at Oak Forest. Several members offered to help her. The club will send candy in little containers to some of the little sick kiddies for our Christmas gift.

Mrs. Baldwin and our program chairman attended the judging school at the Palmer House and they both brought a wealth of information to us. We will have many educational lessons in the future.

Mrs. Baldwin reported about the display held at Peacock's Jewelry store and said it was beautiful.

The birthday song was sung for Mrs. Ava Funk and Mrs. Klehr. Mrs. Clark invited Mrs. Margaret Sommer as her guest and the members were pleased to visit with her. Mrs. Clark's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Brockmann and a Mrs. DeBrau were visiting there and we were all glad to see these folks again. Mrs. Swisher and husband are leaving for a trip to Florida and was very sorry that our big annual Christmas meeting and party would not be at her home but she has plans for later on. We all hope they have a pleasant trip.

Our December 15 meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Henry Duff in New Lenox. This will be a potluck luncheon at 12:30 p.m.

Don't forget our regular Christmas gift exchange.—Mrs. Clara Mug press chairman.

Excellent Volumes
To Be at Book Fair

Tuesday, or, rather Bookdays, November 29, Mokena will have a Book Fair in the school auditorium, under the personal direction of Mrs. Nora MacAlvay, of Book Fairs, Inc., Michigan City, Ind. In order of complete arrangements for this meeting, it became necessary to postpone the regular November meeting of the Mokena PTA to November 29, that being the only date on which Mrs. MacAlvay, a popular specialist in this field, could be secured.

There will be a story telling hour for each class of the Mokena grade school. Then, in the evening the parents are invited to Come to the Fair with their children. There will be a brief business meeting of the PTA, at which the results of the minstrel show and of the poster contest will be made known. Our new orchestra, directed by Miss Kathryn Lilley, will present several musical numbers. The evening will be high lighted by story telling by Mrs. MacAlvay. There will be a number of Book Booths, arranged according to age levels, with each booth under the supervision of a trained person; and anyone can do all the browsing he wishes to do.

Invitation is extended to the public to attend this unusual event. Parents of children of pre-school age especially should find the program exceedingly interesting. Special guests will be our friends from the parent-teacher groups from other schools in the area.

Co-chairmen Mrs. Thomas Powers and Mrs. George Steele are worried that the people will become so interested in the book display that they'll forget to get their "coffee and—"

Oh, yes, the books will be for sale giving an excellent opportunity to reduce a Christmas list.—Lyman F. Teague, publicity chairman.

STREAMLINES
SUBURBAN RUN

Villages and cities along the Rock Island railroad were given their first view of the new streamlined suburban train last Friday when it made its initial run. It left the LaSalle Street depot, Chicago, at 10:15 and arrived in Joliet at 11:40 a.m. It was powered by a diesel engine.

The new train is used on the Joliet "Banker's Special" not stopping between Joliet and Chicago. It is hoped by the other cities and villages that it will not be too long before they will be serviced by the new streamlined coaches.

New suburban cars are 85 feet long and have a seating capacity of 100. They represent, road officials said, a radical departure from conventional passenger car design.

Entrances and exits are thru two sets of pneumatically controlled doors at each side of the cars, instead of thru end vestibules. Doors are about one-fourth of a car length from either end.

Cars are constructed of lightweight steel. Exterior color scheme is a deep green with a gold horizontal stripe. The cars have all-coil spring trucks, with roller bearings, snubbers, and shock absorbing devices for easy riding.

Twelve of the 20 new cars are air-conditioned, and others have a system of forced, filtered air ventilation. Trains assigned to longer runs such as Joliet, will have washroom and toilet facilities.

Rock Island officials said the 20 new cars will permit retirement by the end of the year of approximately 30 older coaches now in use.

What Others Say

The following editorial written by Carl E. Richards, Publisher of the Palos Regional, and which was published in that paper November 10, might help to clear up various publicity stories turned in to this paper as news:

EDITOR'S DON'T CHANGE COPY JUST TO SPITE YOU

We attended a bunco party in a neighboring town the other night. Sitting at a table with a perfect stranger, we heard her say to our friend, "Did you see the way the Times loused up my P. T. A. notice about our play?" (The play was a money-making project for which admission was charged.) "They changed it all around so you wouldn't even recognize it as the story I wrote. I guess they think they are smarter than I am."

We didn't say a word, but there were a lot of questions we would have liked to ask the speaker, such as, "Are you sure the editor of your paper didn't have good reason for changing your article? She probably doesn't think she's smarter than you, but maybe she is better acquainted with some of the every day rules of writing news copy. For instance, did you put the most important part of your news first, so that if the last part of your story had to be cut because of lack of space, the most important part would still remain? Did you tell who what, when and where in the very first couple of sentences? Did you write your article in news style, or did you try to use advertising copy in a news article? Such expressions as "Be sure to come," "Don't miss," "Your help is needed," and the like, are advertising expressions and have no place in a news story, which should be written in the third person. Prices of tickets are another thing that belong in ads but not in news copy.

"Did anyone ever explain to you the difference between news writing and promotional writing? The first time a coming dance, play, or similar entertainment is mentioned in the paper it is news, but any subsequent mention of the entertainment is promotion and is justified from the point of the newspaper and the general reader only if there is additional news offered in the later articles. Most papers are very generous about promoting organizations' various projects, but there are certain journalistic standards and practices which must be adhered to."

And my last question would have been, "If you were displeased with the paper's treatment of your article, why don't you talk to the editor about it. She would explain why she made the changes and probably give you some information which would help you in your publicity writing in the future. After all, editors are in business to please people, not to antagonize them, so if you have a gripe against your paper, discuss the matter with your editor and give her a chance to explain before you go denouncing the paper to the general public."

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Thursday, November 24, will be:

THANKSGIVING

The Golden Text is:

"In every thing give thanks: for this is the will of God in Christ Jesus concerning you" (1 Thess. 5:18).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon, the following are from the Bible:

"Make a joyful noise unto the Lord, all ye lands. Serve the Lord with gladness: come before his presence with singing... Enter into his gates with thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise: be thankful unto him and bless his name... For of him, and through him, and to him, are all things: to whom be glory for ever. Amen. (Ps. 100: 1, 2, 4; Rom. 11: 36).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy:

"God is not moved by the breath of praise to do more than He has already done, nor can the infinite do less than bestow all good, since He is unchanging wisdom and Love... Asking God to be God is a vain repetition. God is 'the same yesterday, and to-day, and forever'; and He who is immutably right will do right without being reminded of His province... Are we really grateful for the good already received? Then we shall avail ourselves of the blessings we have, and thus be fitted to receive more. Gratitude is much more than a verbal expression of thanks. Action expresses more gratitude than speech" (pp. 2, 3).

Watch Out For The Symptoms!

Laughed out loud when I heard Hoot Davis was down with Chicken Pox. A man of forty-five catching a kid's disease!

So I went to see him, armed with jokes about "second childhood" but forgot them fast when I got there. Hoot looked terrible and had quite a fever.

While we talked, I came to think of how Chicken Pox is a lot like other "diseases"—diseases of the character, such as intolerance, self-righteousness or just plain ignorance. They're excusable in children, but when they come out in adults they're ten times as bad—and can be mighty "contagious."

From where I sit, we should all watch out for the "symptoms"—little things like criticising a person's preference for a friendly glass of temp beer or ale. We've seen personal freedom wither away in other countries, when individual intolerance was allowed to get out of hand and become a nation-wide epidemic.

WHATEVER CROP GROWS HERE

THE FARMALL C WILL BE THERE, ALL THE WAY!

Grains, grasses, field row crops, vegetables—whatever is planted in this mellow, weed-free seed bed, the new Farmall C Tractor with Touch-Control will be on the job all the way. The Farmall C is shown here with the McCormick-Deering No. 10-A Disk Harrow.

For the Farmall C delivers practical 5-way power: (1) at the drawbar, for pulling trail-behind machines; (2) at its mounting pads, for pushing forward-mounted implements; (3) at the belt pulley; (4) at the power take-off; (5) at the Touch-Control power arms for raising, lowering and regulating mounted implements by hydraulic power. All at surprisingly low operating cost!

Available for the Farmall C is a full line of matched, quick-change implement units. New and simple in design, each low-cost implement mounts on the tractor to form a compact operating unit. Rear-mounted implements, likewise, are quick-change.

Implements for the Farmall C are under the complete, 2-way hydraulic control of the Farmall Touch-Control. The Farmall C pulls one 16-inch or two 12-inch bottoms; cultivates two rows of wide-planted crops. Ask for full information.

Spokesman of God

Lesson for November 27, 1949

GOD MAKES USE of strange characters. What shall we think of a preacher who tried to beg off from being a preacher? What can we make of a man who actually reproached God for forcing him into the ministry? How shall we rate a man who in time of war urged his own nation to surrender, who was believed by almost nobody, who was repudiated by his own class and even his own family?

What can we say of a man who was often in hot water with the city authorities, who spent months of his time in jail, who was called subversive, and who never got along with the established religion of his time?

The prophet Jeremiah was that man; yet posterity honored him. His own generation thought him a liar. But some then knew, as we know today, that he was a teller of God's truth, a spokesman of God.

Was he a pessimist? WE KNOW (Jer. 1) that Jeremiah did not wish to be a prophet in the first place, though unlike Isaiah he shrank back not from a sense of sin but because he thought of himself as a mere child.

We know (chap. 20) that at times he was thoroughly discouraged about himself, and even cursed the day he was born. It is also true that in the last war waged by his little country of Judah before it was smashed, his advice from beginning to end was "Surrender."

No wonder people thought him a pessimist, a calamity-howler. But before we call him such names we must remember two things. First is, that his unwillingness to be a prophet, and the fact that so to speak he hated the job, marks a vital fact: he, perhaps even more than other prophets, sensed the difference between his own ideas and what God was saying through him.

Even when what the Lord said was not what they themselves would have wished to say, they spoke for the Lord nevertheless. The other thing to remember is that when everybody wants to believe a pleasant lie, and a man comes along telling the unpleasant truth, he is not a pessimist, he is simply stating facts.

Jeremiah stood by the facts as God gave him insight to see them. If they jailed him for it, he could not help that; but they could not shut his mouth nor close his eyes.

Was he a patriot? JEREMIAH was constantly accused of acts and attitudes which today might be called "subversive," though he dearly loved his country. This was because he dared to rebuke the ambitions of his country's leaders.

They said: Our country shall be free! But Jeremiah knew it would not be free. They said: Our king will conquer! Jeremiah knew he would end his days a prisoner. Jeremiah was unpopular, to put it mildly, because he advised his country to take the only place among the nations it could take—a humble one.

Then, as now, many persons think that patriotism means believing yours is the perfect country. If anyone points to injustice in our land, some one may yell, "Deport him!" But Jeremiah showed what is a true patriot. He is not necessarily the man who approves all the foreign policies of his nation (Jeremiah approved not one), nor the man who speaks only good of his country and his people.

The best patriot is the person who, seeing his country as God sees it, will dare to speak out against evil wherever he finds it.

A Way to Know God JEREMIAH knew God well, and the trouble with his contemporaries was that they did not know God. But Jeremiah did not say: "Know God by becoming a prophet like me," for he knew that only a few are called to be prophets. Neither did he say, "Go to church often," for you can see in chap. 7 what he thought of the Temple of his time.

He pointed to the good king Josiah (chap. 13). That king had found God, not in a mystic vision like Jeremiah's, not in burnt offerings and sacrifices, but in the doing of justice, looking out for the exploited, caring for the helpless, seeing that justice was done.

Heat and Humidity Effect Milk Fat

A dairy chemist in the Illinois College of Agriculture said today that you can expect the butterfat content of Bossy's milk to rise as the weather grows cooler.

R. J. Kiers explains that when the temperature gets down to 70 degrees butterfat tests go up at the rate of about two-tenths of one percent for every 10 degree drop in temperature.

Fat tests vary only slightly between temperatures of 70 and 90 degrees. Above 90 degrees, cows usually give less milk but the fat content goes up. Below 70 degrees, the fat content also rises.

Besides temperature, another condition affecting fat test is humidity. Kiers says in experiments which kept the same humidity, changes in fat tests due to temperature changes were smaller than in studies which allowed humidity to change.

So when Bossy's richer milk puts more gold in your milk check this fall, it's just her way of saying, "It's the lack of heat and humidity."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Paysandu, Nov. 3, 1949

Dear Editor:

Now that I have been in Uruguay about three weeks, I will try to tell you something of interest about this beautiful country and its fine people. Leaving Buenos Aires, Argentina on Oct. 11th, on the steamship "City of Buenos Aires," I arrived in Montevideo, Uruguay, late Oct. 12th. This being my first steamship trip, I enjoyed it very much. Boarding the steamer early in the day, I enjoyed a nice dinner, in a very large dining room on the 3rd deck. My table being near a very large window, I could see a beautiful sunset, over the mouth of the Rio Plato, "Silver River," which to me looked like a beautiful large picture, and I always look for a sunset or sunrise when on or near the ocean. I had a very nice cabin but did not retire until late, as I enjoyed seeing the large ocean waves slapping against the sides of the ship. The night was nice and warm, the moon was large and bright, and looked as though it was placed there to guide us over the blue waters of the ocean. I stood at the bow of the ship most of the evening, watching the reflection of the moon on the ocean, which looked like a silver path for the ship to follow. I got up at day break the next day so I could see another sunrise, which as before, was very beautiful. I walked around the upper deck a few times, hoping to see whales, sharks etc., but saw nothing but the blue water of the ocean, and the rising sun, which seemed to be guiding the ship to the port of Montevideo, Uruguay.

Arriving in Montevideo Oct. 12, I was met at the dock by our Uruguayan representative, Mr. Manuel Rico, a very fine gentleman. Mr. Rico speaks very good English, so my visit with him was a very pleasant one. Most people all over Europe and So. America don't eat any breakfast. They usually have a small cup of very strong black coffee. But I, being a North American, I like my ham and eggs for breakfast, so Mr. Rico took me to a nice breakfast of ham and eggs which I enjoyed very much. While Mr. Rico had his small cup of black coffee.

PLAYING IN JAPAN—Frank "Lefty" O'Doul, manager of the San Francisco Seals baseball team, now touring Japan, shakes hands with Prince Akihito and Prince Masahito before a Tokyo game with the Eastern All-Stars of the Japan Professional League. The Seals, who have won every game of their exhibition, shut out the Japanese club 4-0.

After I had finished my ham and eggs, Mr. Rico took me out on a sight seeing trip, through the beautiful city of Montevideo and it's beautiful sea shore, which I enjoyed very much.

I won't try to tell you of all the beautiful and interesting places I saw, as I would have to write a book to tell you everything, so I will just mention a few of the most beautiful and most interesting. First we went to the "Parque De Los Aliados," park of the Allies, where I had my picture taken before an ox team and cart, built there in commemoration of the settlers of Montevideo, under the direction of Bruno Mauricio De Zabala, who later became general. The people of Montevideo do not hesitate to tell visitors that they have not seen Montevideo until they have seen Parque de los Aliados, and no truer words were ever spoken. This park is at the mouth of the Rio Plato and the Atlantic Coast. Here people enjoy all it's beauty while sitting on comfortable park benches, in the shade of beautiful large trees, bearing beautiful flowers of various colors, large tall palm trees, and large plants of palm, that look like huge pineapples growing out of the ground. This park is also beautifully decorated with large flower beds of various color. Here also can be seen the beautiful flag of Uruguay, waving in the cool breeze of the Atlantic Ocean, with it's five broad white stripes, four broad blue stripes and large sun in the upper left corner. The people of Uruguay are very proud of their flag, and they have every reason to be.

There is an old Spanish saying about the flag of Uruguay, as follows: Con Los Colores Del Firmamento Foromo La Patria u Pabellon which means, from the Colors of the Sky we got our Flag. We spent much time in this beautiful park, in fact so much that we had little time left to visit other beautiful places. Mr. Rico had his car, which was very much to our advantage. This way we went to places we wanted to see and spent as much time there as we wanted. We next visited the hospital De Clinicas. Here rich and poor are treated the same, whether they have money or not. This is a very fine hospital, with the best of equipment.

Next we visited the National Congress building, which is built of native marble, and very beautiful. By now it was getting near time for dinner, so we drove to the beautiful Carrasco beach hotel on Carrasco beach, where we had a nice dinner. After dinner we drove out along the Atlantic sea shore covering about one hundred miles, and every mile a beautiful sight. We stopped at a few of the most beautiful beaches to enjoy a better sight of their beauty. It was late in the evening when we got back to the city and I then took a plane for Paysandu, Uruguay. Paysandu is also a very beautiful city and very prosperous. There are several large factories being built. I was here a week then went back to Montevideo. A plane trip to Montevideo is only one hour, while a bus is seven hours, but I enjoyed every hour of it. All the way from Paysandu to Montevideo I saw beautiful farms, and large herds of sheep and cattle. About half way to Montevideo, we came to the City of Mercedes, on the Rio Negro, "Black River," where the bus was run on to a ferry boat and taken across the river. The river is very wide here, and there is a beautiful park on each side. Arriving in Montevideo late in the evening, I did not have much time to go sight seeing so Mr. Rico took me to a nice dinner and later to my hotel. I spent a few days in Montevideo with Mr. Rico but did not have much time for sight seeing.

I expect to leave here about Nov. 12th. I will go to Santiago, Chile, Marobbia, Venezuela, St. John's, Puerto Rico, Havana, Cuba, then home. I will be in each of these cities only a day or two, as I am only stopping there to see our representative and give them what technical help I can. I am going by plane all the way so hope to be home for Thanksgiving.

Now that I have visited many countries, I want to say a few words to all you good Americans. Whenever you meet people from other countries, always treat them kindly, and please help them in any way you can. You will never know how much they will appreciate this until you are in the same predicament.

WASPS

By Forest Preserve District of Cook County, William N. Erickson, President

Wasps seem to have been unusually abundant this year. All thru late summer and this mild weather of autumn they swarmed about ripe and decaying fruit, buzzed by the hundreds on the sunny sides of buildings or in and out of hollow trees, sailed into houses and automobiles, and hovered over picnic lunches. Some people, who mistakenly tried to shoo them away, got stung.

Wasps, belonging to the same general group of insects as ants and bees, are equally "smart" and beneficial to man. Many kinds likewise live in colonies, with queens, males and workers, and are called "social" wasps. Others live alone and are called "solitary." There are thousands of members of the wasp family, ranging in size from the tiny gall wasps—smaller than gnats—which cause the galls on oaks and rose bushes, up to the big hunting wasps which can sting, paralyze and carry away the largest spiders—even tarantulas.

We are most familiar with two general sorts: those that build nests of mud and are called Mud Daubers, Mason Wasps and Potter Wasps; and those that build paper nests and are called Paper Wasps, which include the Yellow Jackets and the White-faced or "Bald headed" Hornet. There is another group called the Digger Wasps, which build their nests in the ground; and another, called Carpenter Wasps, that bore holes in trees, old fence posts or the stems of certain bushes.

Most noticeable this year was the paper wasp which builds a honeycomb like paper nest hung upside down by a short stem attached beneath the eaves of buildings in barns and sheds, under bridges, or in trees and bushes. Each female, or queen, spends the winter hidden in some out of the way place. In spring she gathers weathered fibers of wood or old cardboard which she chews into pulp to build the stem of the nest and a few shallow paper cups. In each cup she lays a single small egg that hatches into a larva which hangs head downward and which she feeds chewed-up small insects, or nectar from flowers, or fruit juices. As the larvae grow, she enlarges the cups in which they hang and adds new cups around them. When fully grown, the larva spins a silken cap on its cell and transforms into an adult worker. These workers emerge and take over the job of feeding the young and building more paper cells until sometimes the nest will be as broad as a man's hand. Near the end of the season, males and young queens are produced. These mate, and the young queens go into hibernation. The males and workers die.

The white-faced hornet also builds a paper nest, on the branch of a tree or bush, containing a number of broad paper combs, one beneath the other, the whole enclosed in several sheets of gray paper to form a pear-shaped nest frequently more than a foot in diameter and containing perhaps thousands of wasps. As winter approaches the nest is abandoned, the workers and males die, and the young queens hibernate. The hornet, which is really vicious and will attack any intruder, is most responsible for the bad reputation given the wasp family. There is a smaller yellow jacket which builds a paper nest like that of the hornet except that it is usually brown and located in the ground, or in a rotten stump or in a brush pile.

The mud daubers are solitary wasps that build cells of clay or mud, each kind building its own type of nest and providing a certain kind of food for its young. The Blue Mud Dauber places one or more spiders and a single egg in each cell. The spiders are stung until paralyzed but remain alive and fresh until eaten by the larvae. The potter wasp builds cells like small brown jugs, which it fills with caterpillars similarly treated. The digger wasps dig holes in the ground, in which they seal spiders, grasshoppers, crickets or other insects for their young.

If stung by a wasp, you'll call it something besides "social."
